The interdisciplinary minor in healing and humanities enables students to explore the complicated nature of health care issues by integrating knowledge from the arts and humanities with the social and natural sciences. The minor is particularly appropriate for students considering health-related professions, complementing other scientific, clinical and professional preparation. Health care careers are projected to be among the fastest-growing fields in the 21st century. America's changing health care environment increasingly calls for individuals who understand the complexity of factors affecting healing and who are able to take a humane, holistic approach.

Undergraduate Minor in Healing and Humanities Student Learning Outcomes

Students graduating from this program will:

- Analyze the complexity of factors affecting healing
- Explain an understanding of holistic and biopsychosocial dimensions of patient care

The healing and humanities curriculum enables pre-health and health professional students to develop an interdisciplinary foundation for a future health care career.
