1 All doctoral students are required to complete three graduate music history courses. One must be a period course (CONSVTY 5555 - CONSVTY 5559B), one must be a seminar course, and the remaining course may be either. Any substitutions must be approved by the music history faculty.

2 Each Doctor of Musical Arts in Orchestral Conducting student area must take three semesters of applied lessons on an instrument/voice chosen in consultation with the major orchestral conducting professor. For most students who do not have voice as their primary instrument, these applied lessons should be in voice. For students whose primary instrument is already voice, applied lessons will be in a different area, likely string instruments.

3 Language Requirement
Diction competency in the major romance languages used in opera is required. Students must take three semesters of diction courses that cover diction in Italian, German, and French or pass the matriculation exam in diction. Specific courses are chosen in consultation with the major conducting and diction professors.

4 Conducting recitals may be done with the approval of the major faculty advisor at any time after successful completion of the Graduate Approval of Major. Two public performances with supporting documents are required for the degree.

5 Students may enroll in only 1 point or 1 credit of doctoral research points prior to successful completion of the First Exam of comprehensive exams. Two rehearsal/lecture demonstrations must be completed.

Language Requirement
The language requirement for the DMA in Conducting, Orchestral Interest Area, is fulfilled through courses in foreign language diction.
