

MASTER OF ARTS: CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION

Degree Overview

Student Learning Outcomes

Students graduating from this program will:

- Demonstrate critical thinking through interpretation, problem solving, evaluation, and analysis.
- Express their thinking clearly and professionally in written and oral communication.
- Treat students equitably and demonstrate the belief that all students can learn.

The Master of Arts in Curriculum and Instruction (MA in C&I) is a degree sought by teachers who wish to deepen their knowledge of effective pedagogical practice to improve their students' learning. This degree has four emphasis areas from which to choose:

- General
- Early Childhood (this emphasis area is not currently admitting new students)
- Subject Matter Specialty
- Teaching English as a Second Language

Admission Requirements

Criteria for admission to a Master of Arts in Curriculum and Instruction degree program include the following:

- Baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution
- 3.0 GPA or higher (on a 4-point scale)
- One-page statement of interest/purpose
- Names of two references

Core Degree Requirements

The core for all emphasis areas is made up of 15 credit hours of coursework from five categories: curriculum theory/design, foundations of education, human development, research and assessment, and culture and diversity. Courses that meet these core requirements are listed below; other courses may be used to fill core requirements with advisor approval. Additionally, all MA in C&I emphasis areas require a minimum of 12 credit hours devoted to a particular area of interest and a culminating experience of action research (3 credit hours).

Students should meet with their advisor before enrolling.

Licensure Disclosure

Licensure Disclosure - M.A. in Curriculum and Instruction- Teaching English for Speakers of Other Languages

Students completing an M.A. in Curriculum and Instruction with an emphasis in Teaching English for Speakers of Other Languages can qualify for an English language learning (K-12) add-on endorsement in the state of Missouri by completing required courses as part of their degree, provided that they hold an initial teacher certification in Missouri and meet all other endorsement requirements. See MO CSR 20-400.600. Completing endorsement coursework requires credit hours in excess of the standard MA in Curriculum and Instruction degree.

UMKC is approved to offer coursework leading to the English language learning endorsement by the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE). Students who wish to be endorsed for English language learning are highly recommended to apply for Missouri's endorsement whether one plans to reside in Missouri or not. Regulations for each state provide licensing options to guarantee access to start who hold a valid initial license from the state a student completed an approved preparation program, and some require licensure in hand from the state in which the preparation program was completed.

This Disclosure is limited to our best ability to determine whether our curriculum would sufficiently meet the educational requirements for certification in another State as a reading teacher. Comparability of state licensing will be based on official, approved compilation of rules and regulations. Students may need to complete additional requirements, such as, coursework, assessment, background checks or classroom experience over and above what is required in Missouri before receiving full certification. A provisional license may be awarded while students complete these requirements. Please contact the state agency where you plan to licensure before relocating to ensure you are fully aware of all licensure requirements.
