

J.D. ADVOCACY EMPHASIS AREA REQUIREMENTS

Emphasis in Advocacy

Admission Requirements

Selection of Students for Admission to the Emphasis in Advocacy

- Deadline for admission to the Emphasis in Advocacy program: Students should apply not later than their fifth semester of law school. Decisions as to whether a student will be admitted to the Emphasis in Advocacy will be made in the semester in which the student applies.
- Procedure and Criteria for Selection:
 - The maximum number of students who will be permitted to enter the emphasis each year will be set by the emphasis director taking into account the ability to provide adequate supervision and advising.
 - The emphasis director will select the students to be admitted to the program. Criteria to be considered may include previous general academic performance in law school, previous academic performance in courses seen as particularly relevant to advocacy, level of interest, and ability to identify an advisor willing to advise and supervise the student.
 - No student shall be admitted to the Advocacy program unless he or she has a grade-point average of 2.7 or above in all law school classes previously taken.
- Part-time Students and Other Students with Unusual Schedules: The emphasis director is authorized to make appropriate adjustments in the deadlines for part-time students or other students whose schedules do not substantially conform to the six semester paradigm.

Any other course if, before beginning the course, the student obtains written approval from both the emphasis director in consultation with the associate dean. Such approval shall not be granted unless the director can find that, in light of the student's other courses and the student's litigation-related goals, the course will advance the student's study of litigation to an extent equivalent to other litigation electives.

Courses may be added or deleted from the lists contained in sections 1 through 3 above with approval of the advocacy emphasis committee and the faculty.

All emphasis students will be required to develop an electronic portfolio of self-selected documents and videos, and which will include a final skills assessment. Students will present their portfolio before a panel of two or three people including faculty and members of the bar.

Important Note: Because the School is committed to keeping up with changes in the practice of law, the requirements for emphasis areas may change during the course of a student's enrollment at the School. The requirements at the time a student is granted admission into the emphasis area are the requirements that govern completion of the student's emphasis requirements. For possible revised requirements that will take effect with the next academic year, ask the emphasis director for the most recent iteration of requirements.

Graduation Requirements

For a student to be recognized as having graduated with an Emphasis in Advocacy, the student must have fulfilled the following requirements:

- The student must have satisfied all general and curriculum requirements set forth above.
- The student must have achieved a grade-point average of at least 3.0 in the field. This grade-point average shall be computed considering all Required Courses, Grouped Required Courses, and Elective Courses in the emphasis taken by the student, including any that exceed the minimum hour requirements for the Emphasis in Litigation.
