

MINOR: URBAN STUDIES

Student Learning Outcomes

Students graduating from this program will:

- appreciate how gender, ethnicity, and race play important roles in understanding the city.
- be able to demonstrate knowledge of how local, regional, and state governments and related institutions interact. They will understand how the urban economy is structured in interrelated sectors that influence each other locally and interact with sectors beyond the local city. They will understand how to interpret demographic patterns at various scales, from the city block to the metropolitan area.
- will demonstrate the ability of critical thinking about urban space.
